Rep. Walter Asks JFK To Dismiss FAA Officials

REP. FRANCIS E. Walter, yesterday asked President Kennedy to dismiss Nageeb Halady, Federal Aviation agency administrator, and FAA's director of flight standards, George C. Prill.

The dismissals are being sought by Eastern Democrats who voiced strong criticism of the FAA's handling of the recently-enacted supplemental airlines legislation.

Walter said the Civil Aeronautics Board has ruled seven non-scheduled airlines seeking new interim-authority certificates as "unfit" to operate flights.

The Congressman also told the House yesterday that three of these seven airlines have been ruled ineligible by the Defense Department's Military Air Transport Service. Despite this, said Walter, the FAA's director

Court Halts Try To Block Probe

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The state Supreme Court Thursday refused to spike a taxpayer's suit aimed at heading off a special grand jury investigation of alleged city hall wrongdoing.

From his home near Wilkes-Barre Justice Benjamin Jones issued an order denying a petition asked the suit be dismissed or shifted to the court of Judge Eugene V. Alessandrini, who directed the inquiry in the first place. Reportedly most of the other justices agreed with Jones.

Even as the high court's order came through three judges of common pleas court heard arguments on the taxpayer's suit, brought by Louis Lipschitz, an attorney, on behalf of his secretary, Miss Beatrice Smith. Both said they were registered Republicans.

Officials Reach Terms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Company and union officials announced Thursday an agreement on an issue which resulted in a work stoppage at the Glen Alden Anthracite operations in northeastern Pennsylvania.

The United Mine Workers of America announced also an agreement with the Moffat Coal Co., Scranton, Pa. The latter agreement was reached by telephone, the UMWA said.

The issue involved company payments to the Anthracite Health and Welfare Fund.

Approximately 1,700 workers were affected in the stoppage at the Glen Alden Corp. mines and about 300 at Moffat.

A joint statement issued after a conference here by officials of Glen Alden and the UMWA said: "Agreement has been reached by officials of the Glen Alden Corp. with officers of the International Union and District 1, 7 and 9, United Mine Workers of America, as to the verification of the amount of money to be paid to the Anthracite Health and Welfare Fund by the Glen Alden Corp. on royalties payable. Negotiations leading to today's (Thursday's) settlement in Washington began in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., on Saturday, Aug. 25."

Girl Wins Round To Enter School

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Rosemary Sheppard won a judicial round Thursday in her struggle to enter a public high school, but her parents will have another chance next month to keep her in court-approved classes at home.

Dist. Judge Eben L. Taylor rejected a petition to return Rosemary, 15, to the custody of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy C. Sheppard, who objected to a Juvenile Court order placing her with an older married sister.

Rosemary has lived with the sister, Naomi McNeese, since she slipped from her home Aug. 3 and asked Juvenile Court Judge Dorothy Young to let her enter public school for the first time in six years.

The Sheppards took Rosemary and a twin brother, Roy Gary, and another son, Ray Gene, now 13, out of public schools in 1956. They contended the children were developing inferiority complexes and fears of adults because of punishment at school.

Mrs. Sheppard, a business school graduate, began teaching the children in a classroom at home.

Court Rule Favors EAL's Request

NEW YORK (AP) — A three-judge federal court upheld Thursday Eastern Air Line's right to retrain copilots to replace striking flight engineers.

But several skirmishes remain before the bitter, long-standing labor dispute is free of the courts.

U.S. Court of Appeals Judges J. Edward Lumbard, Leonard P. Moore and Thurgood Marshall unanimously upheld a lower court decision denying an injunction requested by engineers to prevent Eastern from:

1. Retraining the copilots in engineers' duties.
 2. Bargaining individually with the 575 Eastern Air Lines members of the striking Flight Engineers International Association, AFL-CIO.
- The lower court decision was by Dist. Judge Wilfred J. Feinberg last week, almost two months after the strike began June 23.
- The strike stopped Eastern's planes for a month. The airline resumed limited service in July and has increased the number of flights gradually toward full restoration of service, scheduled for Sept. 13.

Chicago Telegraphers Strike Turns Midwestern Railroads Into Silence

Algerians Fighting With Red Weapons

ALGIERS, Algeria (AP) — Regular Algerian army forces with Soviet and Red Chinese weapons rolled Thursday night toward Algiers under orders of Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella to subdue mutinous guerrillas controlling the capital.

Dramatic telephone reports received here said dust-covered columns of trucks pulling cannon were moving along national highways.

Shortly afterward all wire communications between western and central Algeria were cut off.

Before Blackout

Before the communication blackout, European settlers reported seeing heavy columns passing Charon on Highway No. 4 and Violar and Bourbaki on Highway 14 after nightfall. Both areas are about 150 miles from Algiers.

The soldiers' commander, Marxist-leaning Col. Houari Boumedienne, was under orders of Ben Bella's Political Bureau for loyalist troops to re-establish order in the capital.

Guerrilla troops of the Wilayas (zones) Nos. 3 and 4 called on the population to resist Ben Bella's play for power which they called a Fascist dictatorship.

But despite heated appeals, no efforts visible at dusk had been made to defend the capital.

Red Equipment

The Algerian regular army, stationed in Morocco and Tunisia during the war for independence, is equipped with 85 mm. and 105 mm. Soviet cannon. It also has 75 mm. anti-aircraft guns from Red China.

Earlier in the day, French military sources said they doubted a major clash was imminent.

Earlier, both sides issued communiques that sounded as though civil war was near. Politicians are regressing their appeals for peace.

Algerian officials assured foreign diplomats that everything will blow over. From the sidelines, French military sources said they believe no major armed conflict is imminent.

The clashing communiques were issued by Deputy premier Ahmed Ben Bella's crippled Political Bureau.

THE Daily Record will not be published Monday, Labor Day, to permit employees to enjoy the holiday.

A complete roundup of local, state and national news will appear in Tuesday's issue.

The business office will be closed from noon Saturday until Tuesday morning.

No Explanation Is Given For Absence Of Children

BURAS, La. (AP) — The five Negro children who integrated a Roman Catholic school in this little town near the mouth of the Mississippi River failed to attend classes Thursday.

There was no explanation for their absence.

The white attendance at Our Lady of Good Harbor Elementary School divided to 25-13 less than Wednesday when the fall term began. The enrollment a year ago was around 340.

Ardent segregationists—many of whom withdrew their children from the school—milled outside the recently built one-story brick school throughout the day, silently protesting the dropping of racial barriers.

Many carried placards, but there were no incidents.

Brown-robed Rev. Christopher Schneider, a Franciscan priest and pastor of Our Lady of Good Harbor church, stood in the doorway of the school, barring entrance to all persons.

Wednesday, newsmen were allowed inside the building and photographers took pictures of the integrated classrooms.

Asked if any Negro pupils were expected, Father Schneider—a lean, angular priest with a crew-cut—shrugged his shoulders and said: "I just can't say."

Wirtz Pledges To Follow Goldberg's Labor Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — W. Willard Wirtz, tapped by President Kennedy to be secretary of labor, pledged Thursday to carry on the labor-management peace policies of the man whose shoes he's stepping into, Arthur J. Goldberg.

Goldberg, chosen as a Supreme Court justice, and Wirtz, who is being elevated from undersecretary of labor, flew into the capital from Chicago. There, they made an unsuccessful try at heading off a telegraphers strike against the big Chicago & North Western Railway.

Goldberg said he had suggested Wirtz name as his successor and that he was "delighted beyond words" at Wirtz' elevation.

"If Mr. Goldberg intends a pun and means to say he is delighted beyond Wirtz, he is wrong," Wirtz said.

Berlin Meeting Doubt By French

WASHINGTON (AP) — French coolness raised serious doubt Thursday that the Western Big Four foreign ministers will hold their proposed meeting on Berlin.

President Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday: "There will be a meeting of the foreign ministers before the meeting of the (U.N.) General Assembly." He said it had been agreed to in principle but time and place had not been set.

Thursday, the British spiked prospects for such a get-together before the Sept. 13 General Assembly opening. London announced that because of a Commonwealth meeting on the Common Market starting Sept. 10, Foreign Secretary Lord Home will not leave for the United Nations until Sept. 23.

French objections cast doubt on prospects for such a parity even later in the U.N. session.

U.S. diplomats did not abandon attempts to work out some acceptable solution but they would not predict that a meeting would take place.

The State Department issued a statement saying Kennedy was only expressing his "readiness to act as host" for such a gathering. Informants gave this background: Earlier this summer, while U.S., British, French and West German ambassadors representatives were holding a periodic meeting in Washington on Berlin strategy, the West Germans proposed the foreign ministers meet on the eve of the United Nations' fall session to map a common response should the German question come up in the General Assembly.

Either New York or Washington was deemed suitable for the Western meeting, with Washington preferred.

After Kennedy's statement, the French made plain they are not agreed in principle to a meeting at this time.

The French hold to a policy of sitting tight on Berlin and not negotiating with the Reds until they produce something negotiable.

Strike Stops Work In Nine States

CHICAGO (AP) — A strike by fewer than 1,000 telegraphers Thursday turned the sprawling Midwest network of the Chicago & North Western Railway into a silent battleground over the job-refusing effects of modernization.

The strike, by members of the AFL-CIO Order of Railroad Telegraphers, began at 7 a.m., and rail operations over the 10,600-mile line in nine states stopped.

The telegraphers' walkout seeks to enforce their demand of Dec. 3, 1957 that none of their jobs as station agents or communications operators be abolished after that date without an agreement between the union and the carrier.

Murphy Defends Actions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Undersecretary of Agriculture Charles S. Murphy told senators Thursday it is almost miraculous that the department works as well as it does.

The assessment of the huge agency came as Murphy defended anew his actions on the complicated farm-aid dealings of Billie Sol Estes, the Pecos, Tex., promoter.

Murphy told the Senate Investigations subcommittee he followed the dictates of his conscience in all the decisions he made in regard to the now-indicted Estes.

When asked by Chairman John L. McClellan, D-Ark., why he did not consult Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman until after the Estes case was assuming the proportions of a scandal, Murphy replied:

"It was a relatively minor problem. I felt I should handle it myself."

Second Day On Stand

Repeatedly in his second day on the stand, Murphy contended he was motivated only by a desire to be fair to Estes and at the same time protect the government's position.

The subcommittee is trying to determine whether Estes enjoyed improper favors from within the department while building a vast financial empire which has collapsed in bankruptcy.

After the morning session, McClellan disclosed that Estes will make his long-awaited appearance before the committee week after next.

Five Hurt In Collision Of Car, Truck

FIVE persons were injured, none seriously, in the collision of a car and a tractor-trailer at the intersection of Routes 209 and 115 at McIlhenny at 4:45 p.m. yesterday.

State Police at Fern Ridge said the tractor-trailer, operated by Ryland Hoch, 31, Millville, struck a car operated by Joseph Kramer, 53, of 221 Williams Ave., Barrington, N. J., as Kramer attempted to make a left turn onto 115.

The impact tore loose the wheels of the tractor-trailer which came to rest blocking 209 and necessitating the re-routing of traffic for more than two hours. Damage to both vehicles was estimated at $10,000.

Kramer suffered cuts of the mouth and his wife, Dorothy, 52, had head cuts. Three wards of the state of New Jersey, who live with the Kramers, were also hurt. They are James Marshall, 13, cut right leg; Ronald Marshall, 10, mouth cuts and a broken nose, and Joseph Vincent, nine, cut right leg.

All of the injured were treated at the General Hospital of Monroe County and discharged. Troopers estimated damage to the tractor-trailer, owned by P. L. Lawton, Inc., Berwick, at $7,000 and to the car at $3,000.

So. Wayne Joint Board Accepts Teacher Applicants

NEWFOUNDLAND — Applications from two prospective teachers — one in the homeliving field and the other a commercial teacher — were accepted by the Green and Dreher School Boards during the August meeting at Southern Wayne Joint School at which Lawrence Grimm presided.

Names of the teachers were withheld, pending receipt of signed contracts.

School will open at 9 a.m. on September 5. The cafeteria will be in operation on that day, with school lunches served for 25 cents and special milk for four cents.

A new classroom schedule has been set up, calling for 50-minute classes during the morning and 45-minute classes during the afternoon for a total of seven periods a day. School will close this year at 3:20 instead of 3:45 p.m.

Bills for supplies and books, totaling $434.64, and the general bills totaling $1,066.63, were approved for submission to the Walpole Neck Area Joint School Board for payment.

The requests of Lois Gilby and Robert Strupewski to return to SWJS for a post-graduate course were granted.

It was reported that Mrs. Robert Schaeffer, former teacher in Newfoundland, will be the new teacher for the special class this year. Mrs. Marion Gilpin, who has taught the class for the past few years, is a member of the elementary school faculty this year.

There were nine members of the boards in attendance. Clayton Northup, principal, gave a report on repairs completed at the school, including the change in the bell system, cleaning of the septic tanks and installation of screens.

Delaware River Diversion OK'd

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—A request by the Pennsylvania Gas and Water Company to divert water from the Delaware River basin into the Wilkes-Barre area was approved Wednesday by the Delaware River Basin Commission.

The diversion is to be from Bear Creek, a Lehigh River tributary, into Crystal Lake, Luzerne County. The company intends to sell the water.

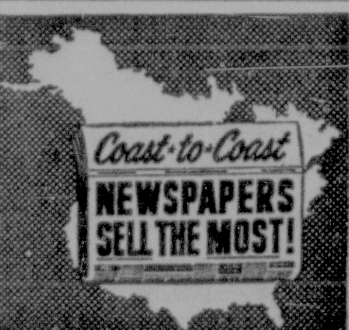

William Miller of Princeton, N. J., counsel for the commission called it a historic decision. The question of water diversion in the Delaware basin always has been a touchy and difficult one.

Chief Urges Holiday Bike Safety

"LABOR DAY weekend is really the only long weekend we have this summer. I hope it will be a safe one in our community," said John B. Tretheway, Stroudsburg Chief of Police, today. "With a record 29,000,000 bikes on the road, brought on by a rebirth of interest in cycling by children and adults, it is imperative that cyclists in our area know their responsibilities, thereby ending their summer vacations on a high note of fun."

Chief Tretheway pointed out that road traffic will probably be at an all-time high during the last holiday weekend of the summer as vacationers and tourists head for beaches, lakes and parks. Since the bike is the major means of transportation and fun for millions of youngsters and a growing number of adults, there will probably be more two-wheelers on the road over Labor Day than at any time in history.

Accordingly, Chief Tretheway today passed on to Stroudsburg area cyclists the 12 major Bike Rules of the Road as received from the Bicycle Institute of America:

1. Observe all traffic regulations and lights.
2. Keep to the right. Ride single file.
3. For night riding, have a headlight, tail light or reflector. Wear light colored clothing.
4. Have a workable horn or bell. Maintain safe speed.
5. Watch for cars pulling in to traffic. Be careful of doors opening on parked cars.
6. Never hitch on other vehicles.
7. Carry no passengers or objects which interfere with vision or control.
8. Keep your bicycle in perfect working condition. Make sure brakes are functioning properly.
9. Stop, look and listen at all intersections.
10. Use proper hand signals when stopping or turning.
11. Ride in a straight line. Do not swerve or weave.
12. Avoid sidewalk riding. Always give the pedestrian the right of way.

In commenting on the rules, Chief Tretheway said: "Bike riders in America have an enviable safety record. If our youngsters adhere to these rules, our community will be no exception and Labor Day will be a happy holiday for all of us."

Funds Available To County For Child Welfare Cases

Record Harrisburg Bureau

HARRISBURG, Aug. 31 — A total of $9500 in state funds is available to Monroe County as reimbursement for part of the cost of county services to dependent, neglected and delinquent children, the State Department of Public Welfare said today.

Welfare Secretary Mrs. Ruth

Grigg Horting explained that "counties may be reimbursed toward the cost of salaries of personnel engaged to carry out the child welfare services and the cost of the care of dependent, neglected and delinquent children by means of foster homes, institutions, day care homes or centers, homemaker services, psychological and psychiatric services and medical services."

The money is not distributed automatically. In order to be eligible Monroe County must:

1. Sign an agreement with the Department of Public Welfare to provide child welfare services that meet department standards.

2. Continually demonstrate to the satisfaction of the department that the County Commissioners are providing such services.

3. Furnish such information and accounting records as may be required.

4. Demonstrate that they are spending not less than one-tenth of one mill of the value of all taxable real property in the county, as determined by the State Tax Equalization Board for 1961.

Services to children have usually consisted only of placement in foster homes and institutions. With the state money which counties may now receive services to prevent the breaking up of a child's home, as well as better services to those who must be placed, are possible.

Hamatie Death Accident Caused By Carelessness

A MONROE County coroner's jury yesterday ruled the Aug. 17 death of Douglas Hamatie was an accident "due to carelessness on the part of William Hardy, driver of the pickup truck."

Hamatie, 19, of Mt. Pocono and Brooklyn, N.Y., was dead on arrival at Monroe County General Hospital after the pickup truck in which he was riding crashed into the rear of a tractor-trailer on Route 611, about a mile south of Mt. Pocono.

Hardy, 18, of 32 Fairview Ave., Mt. Pocono, has been charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of Hamatie and is free under $2,000 bond pending a free hearing.

Trooper John Florenza of the Mt. Pocono State Police barracks testified that the two vehicles travel 327 feet from the point of original impact after the crash. He also identified pictures taken at the scene of the crash which showed the pickup truck under the tractor-trailer.

Dr. M. J. Leitner, hospital pathologist, testified that the right side of Hamatie's chest was crushed, his right hand was almost amputated and that death was due primarily to a deep penetrating cut of the chest and abdominal cavities.

Kenneth Miller, Mt. Pocono police chief, told the jury he heard the crash and saw Hamatie's body turning over in the air as it was thrown from the truck. Miller had halted a speeding truck in the southbound lanes of the divided highway about 150 feet from the accident scene.

Lawrence Barnic, Jr., 58, of 1206 Foster St., Scranton, the driver of the tractor-trailer, said the pickup truck actually hit him twice — once in the left rear and again on the "dolly" wheels of the vehicle, about 25 feet from the first point of impact.

Barnic said he was traveling between 30 and 35 miles an hour at the time and that after the first impact between the two vehicles, he tried to pull off the highway to avoid a further crash.

Robert Triano, 15, Woodlawn Rd., Mt. Pocono, also a passenger in the pickup truck, said he was watching Miller write up the truck driver and when he looked back at the road the pickup was almost on top of the tractor-trailer.

Hardy testified he was doing about 50 miles an hour when the crash occurred and that he had just passed two cars and another tractor-trailer.

He said his attention was also distracted by Miller and the truck-driver in the southbound lane. Hardy said when he realized he was so close to the rear of the tractor-trailer, he swung out in an attempt to pass it but was unable to do so.

George Graff, foreman of the six-man jury, announced the verdict after John C. F. Foelker, coroner, told the members of the panel they must find more than simple negligence to place responsibility for the crash on the driver.

Girl Hurt In Swimming Accident

CYNTHIA SHOOK, 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Shook, Cedar St., Stroudsburg, was admitted to the General Hospital of Monroe County yesterday for treatment of severe neck and back injuries sustained while swimming in Brodheads Creek at Stokes Mill.

A hospital spokesman said a specialist was being called in to interpret the results of X-rays taken after her admission.

State Police of the Stroudsburg barracks, who assisted at the scene, were called about 3:30 p.m. after the girl apparently jumped into the creek and hit bottom.

Dr. James A. Reed, a professor of health and physical education at East Stroudsburg State College, was present when the accident occurred. He said he jumped in and with the assistance of an unidentified girl supported the Shook girl against a ledge until police and the hospital ambulance arrived.

A hospital spokesman said last night the girl's condition had not been determined.

What Happened?

Much of the American public has the impression that unions are responsible for the high standard of living in this country, and the National Association of Manufacturers decided to look at the facts behind the belief.

Soon they came upon the government historical studies that showed that American real wage rates discounting inflation have been rising right along with increases in productivity for a hundred years. But unions were active only for a quarter of that time.

In the booklet, "Economic Implications of Union Power," the NAM draws the conclusion that the rise in wages would have gone on happening whether unions ever had become powerful or not.

This reminds us of a sign on a laboratory wall which states: "Repeated experiments have demonstrated that if a drum is beaten in the early hours of the morning, shortly the sun will come up." It appears that the unions have been beating that drum.

But union power is not discounted by the NAM. While union activity cannot increase the national income, it can force changes in its distribution by getting larger shares for its members. This, of course, occurs at the expense of other groups. Owners and consumers have less so that union workers can have more.

Ultimately, of course, consumers balk at the higher prices. Business falls off. Investment is slowed. Union members then become unemployed.

When union contracts call for wages that the market will bear—the wages that could have been had without unions—this doesn't happen.

In sum, unions can't increase the size of the pie, but do to some extent influence how it will be divided. If they exceed the possible in their demands, their members suffer, and so does the public. They can also influence how members are paid—whether in money or in fringe benefits.

But they don't increase what Americans have to live on. And when they become very militant, they may slow down economic growth by pricing products and services above the market.

These views deserve study by those concerned with our sluggish growth rate.

Get Tough With Parents, Too!

Acts of vandalism have become so frequent and so destructive in communities of the West Branch Valley that it is time to get as tough as the law allows—with parents as well as the pranksters.

When youngsters are so irresponsible and under such loose parental control that they think it is fun to destroy school property, as has been done in this city, and rip off house siding at an invalid's home, as was done in nearby Avis, they've gotten too far out of hand for the safety of their neighbors or for their own good.

The situation has reached the point where it calls for more than dealing with the teen-age vandals themselves.

It calls for making the parents answer for the discipline they've failed to exercise.

Judge Charles G. Webb, of Tioga County, met this very problem forthrightly enough a few days ago.

When three juveniles were arraigned before him for damaging a house near Wellsboro, he put the boys on probation and then fixed upon them and their parents the responsibility of making restitution for property damage approximating $3,000.

This is no slap on the wrist. It is a verdict severe enough to be a warning to every parent either to control their child or be prepared to pay for the mischief he does.

Politics By Polls

It has, for some years, been customary for politicians to have polls taken by professional pollsters to discover whether they are worthy of holding particular public offices. Presumably they do not themselves know whether they are good or bad or indifferent but they require a poll to give them a clue to themselves.

One of the first and most persistent poll-users was Thomas E. Dewey, who did not, of course, succeed in his aspirations.

Prior to the invention of the polls, a man appeared before his fellow-citizens as a candidate for office, willing to take his chances as a man should. Nowadays, what with elections so costly, many candidates would like to know something about what their chances are.

I have before me a poll taken by Louis Harris and Associates, Inc., dated August 22, 1962, which is designed to establish that James A. Farley cannot defeat Nelson Rockefeller for Governor.

The word, designed, will be objected to as representing a premeditated result. Not being a psychiatrist, I cannot determine anyone's motives. However, this poll is represented to be a cross-section of 802 voters.

In every part of New York State, which has a population of 15,000,000 persons and in the 1958 gubernatorial election showed a vote of 5,712,482 for all parties.

If a sample of 802 voters is representative of a population of 15,000,000 in a state which consists of 49,576 square miles, why hold an election at all? Why not send out Louis Harris and his associates to take a sample and call it a day. Surely, Harris costs less than an Election, and takes less energy of less persons.

I look at the tail of this report and find a sub-head, "By Religious Groups." This has become a curse upon our body politic. It used to be that Americans voted as Americans. They did not vote on the basis of religious groupings or ethnological groupings.

Harris puts under this heading: White Protestant, Catholic, Jewish, Negro. Apparently in the sample of 802 voters, these are represented. I have never before known that the Negroes were a "Religious Group," although the followers of Elijah Muhammad so claim. But what shocked me was that Harris and Associates, Inc., show in this poll that James Farley gets a maximum 60 percent of the Catholic vote.

This is taken on the sample of 802 voters, but there is no statement as to how many of them were Roman Catholics. Farley's maximum of Jewish voters is 57 percent, which no pollster can know to be true because Jews usually do not vote as a bloc, appearing in both parties, depending on various situations.

The poll which gives the Democratic Party a 54 percent Catholic vote and a 72 percent Jewish vote does not say that that was so in any Election, but rather I assume that this refers to the 802 voters used as a sample.

Obviously, a large part of the Democratic vote in New York is among the Irish and Italian Catholics and in Buffalo, among the Polish Catholics and 54 percent looks mighty small to me. Also, the 72 percent for Jews in the Democratic Party does not look right as Nelson Rockefeller's greatest support in 1958 came in those areas where more Jews than Christians or atheists live.

In a word, I find this poll of 802 voters too selective to be informative and unless I saw the list of names and addresses of those polled, it would be hard for me to accord it as more than a response of 802 persons. As a guide to how 5,712,482 voters would vote on Election Day, I think so small a sample is meaningless.

The pollsters say that they can learn much from these samples. And some politicians go by these polls until they are retired to silence and memories. A strong man depends rather on his ability to attract the voters, to state his case and to prove able and competent. Strong men take risks.

When a politician says of any Election that this year the Protestant must be a Protestant or a Catholic or a Jew, I am tempted to reply that I hope that this year the American voter will vote for an American. If this is impractical politics, let us be impractical for a change and do the right thing.

The Pennsylvania Story

George Bloom Has His Say

By Mason Denison

(How does the statewide campaign shape up at this point— from a political pro's point of view? Here's the way Republican State Chairman George I. Bloom feels about it, expressed in this specially-written column for Mason Denison.)

By George I. Bloom, Republican State Chairman Harrisburg—The political fortune of the Republican Party in Pennsylvania is bright.

Our campaign is moving smoothly and efficiently toward a smashing victory at the polls Nov. 6 which will herald the beginning of a new era of fiscal and administrative integrity for Pennsylvania in January.

We are better organized and equipped for the tremendous task ahead than in any other campaign. First, we have attractive and capable candidates. Then we have the issues and finally an enthusiastic organization of hard-working people.

Pennsylvanians have seen some really old-style campaigning in recent months by Cong. James E. Van Zandt, our candidate for U.S. Senator, and Cong. William W. Scranton, the gubernatorial nominee.

Despite heavy responsibilities in Congress, these two men have worked out tight schedules to allow them to carry their campaigns through many sections of Pennsylvania.

The main issues, of course, are unemployment, corruption in government and administrative waste.

Despite loud and brassy promises by two Democratic governors since 1954, little or nothing has been accomplished to halt the flight of business from Pennsylvania and the climb of unemployment. This state, which was a standout in industrial circles, has slipped badly due to policies of two Democratic Administrations. We have not kept pace economically with the rest of the nation. This is attested by the simple fact that while the jobless count in recent months has slowed at the national level, it has increased in Pennsylvania!

The corruption that has been turned up in Philadelphia, home base for the Democratic gubernatorial hopeful, is a danger signal for voters everywhere. Imagine what could happen at the state level if the man who was Mayor of Philadelphia when much of the wrong-doing was uncovered were allowed to perpetrate his influence statewide!

And his running mate for U.S. Senator has taken so many sides on so many questions that together they resemble political chameleons who respond to every situation in such manner as to slip easily into a background of ineffectiveness.

The waste and wrongs allowed by the present Democratic Administration are a black mark on Pennsylvania's record—even more so since the Democratic candidate for Governor has endorsed the whole ball of wax.

I believe it boils down to this: There is no question that the Democrats will outspend us two to one in the campaign. But we have the better candidates, the issues are on one side and the enthusiasm of the voters is blowing in our direction.

Independents and many, many Democrats, disenchanted with eight years of tremendous activity but little achievement, are going to help Republicans oust the Democratic spoilers from Capitol Hill and send Jimmie Van Zandt to Washington. They are going to back this up by expanding the size of the GOP delegation to Congress and giving the next Republican Governor good, working majorities in the State House and Senate, so that effective policies can be translated into law to get this state moving ahead once more.

They tell the lighthearted story about the representatives of the Catholic and Jewish religions who decided to have a championship golf match, so the Vatican appointed Gene Littler as a priest to represent them. After the match, Father Littler came to the Vatican and reported: "I am sorry, but I came in second."

A young mother passing by remarked: "I must congratulate you. You know just how to speak to babies—calmly, gently."

She patted the youngster on the head and cooed: "What's bothering you, Albert?"

"No, no," the father said. "His name is Johnny, I'm Albert."

Miss Bernhardt was delighted with him, and when he rose to go she kissed him first on each cheek, then squarely on the lips. "The right cheek for your paper in Carson," she explained, "the left for the Examiner, and the lips, my friend, for yourself."

The Allen-Scott Report

Cuba Gets Electronic Jamming Equipment

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott
Washington—Soviet technicians have begun installing "electronic counter equipment" in Cuba that can be used to interfere with U.S. missiles launched from our major test center at Cape Canaveral, Florida. This new type of Russian equipment, capable of jamming or tracking rockets fired down the southern Atlantic ocean test range, arrived aboard 10 of the 26 Soviet ships that already have unloaded their military cargo at Cuban ports.

This ominous threat is the reason behind President Kennedy's decision to send General Maxwell Taylor, his chief military representative, on a special mission to the Caribbean.

General Taylor, the next chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, is under direct orders from the President "to learn the full significance of these Soviet military shipments."

Also, he has been assigned to determine the immediate threat to U.S. security if this sensitive equipment is used against aircraft flying from our naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

One reliable intelligence estimate sent to the President indicates that Soviet Premier Khrushchev has given the green light to his military leaders to use Cuba as a testing ground for their newest jamming devices.

In effect, the Soviet leader is ready to risk U.S. counter aggression and fix her up with measures by making the air and sea approaches to Cuba "another Spain."

This alarming possibility is based on information from refugees just out of Cuba. They report that the Soviets have sent more than ten times the "electronic counter equipment" needed for Cuba's defense.

The most sensitive of this jamming equipment is expected to be used to disrupt our plans to beat the Soviets to the moon. This kind of interference is clearly possible since all major missile launchings for the moon project will be from Cape Canaveral.

Also, several hundred of the highly-trained Soviet bloc experts that landed with the equipment are building a satellite tracking station in Cuba.

This Soviet station—the first of its kind outside of Russia—is being designed to guide manned-Soviet spacecraft as well as track U.S. missile and satellite launchings.

Immediate Threat—The Joint Chiefs of Staff, while concerned about this potential missile interference, warn that the first operational use of the Soviet "ECE" will be an attempt to establish air control over the Caribbean for Castro's growing jet air force.

The jamming devices will be used to interfere with U.S. aircraft guidance control and ground-to-air communication systems throughout the area.

Already, Soviet agents are working closely with Communists inside the Haiti government to set up "ECE" outposts on that island in exchange for Communist arms and economic help.

As tempting bait, the Russians offered President DiValier 200 Soviet bloc experts and $10 million in economic aid—the same amount the U.S. has been withholding from Haiti.

President Kennedy is still undecided on what steps the U.S. should take to counter this growing Soviet threat in the Caribbean. He told Democratic Congressional leaders at a White House briefing this week that he planned to delay a decision until General Taylor makes his full report.

Intelligence Log—Despite State Department denials, the U.S. does have definite information that Soviet ground-to-air missiles have been unloaded in Cuba and are now being installed. These missiles have ranges of up to 90 miles and can easily be converted into ground-to-ground missiles. They are similar to the Army's Nike-Ajax.

Russia is shipping a huge floating crane to Cuba. Built in Bulgaria, the crane will be towed from the Black Sea to Havana next month. . . . Kataranga's President Tsombe is hitting back at the sanctions the United Nations is trying to impose on his province. He is blocking shipment of gasoline from Rhodesia and South Africa to the United Nations headquarters at Elisabethville. . . . General Lyman L. Lemnitzer plans for NATO that his predecessor, General Lauris Norstad established. He will push for a NATO tactical nuclear striking force—a brainchild of General Norstad. . . . U.S. intelligence reports identify Algeria's Ben Bella as a Communist with ties directly to Moscow. . . . A Pakistan-Afghanistan battle is brewing in the United Nations. Zafulla Khan, of Pakistan, will be opposed by Afghanistan's Abdul Rahman Pazwak for the presidency of the General Assembly when it convenes in September. Russian and India are expected to back the Afghanist candidate, while the U.S. will support Pakistan's choice.

Headhunters Look Toward Own State

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — Tribesmen of mountainous Nagaland—some of whom still are headhunters—soon may have a state of their own in the Indian union.

The Indian Parliament took a step Tuesday toward this solution to the 15-year-old battle between Indian army units and Naga rebels. It amended, 313-5, the republic's constitution to allow creation of a 16th state.

This seemed unlikely, however, to satisfy the rebel leader, A.Z. Phizo, who from self-imposed exile in Britain continues to demand a sovereign, independent Nagaland.

Phizo has said his million Naga brethren refuse to be swamped by the 450 million Indians with whom he sees nothing in common.

In parliament, several speakers challenged the idea that Nagaland can ever be a viable state. They also contended India cannot afford to have a turbulent Nagaland adjoining the Northeast Frontier Agency, which is claimed by neighboring Red China.

But Prime Minister Nehru said he hopes the statehood plan will elicit cooperation from the Nagas. The new state would have a separate legislature, elected by the Nagas, and a governor nominated at New Delhi.

In the more aboriginal state, the tribesmen practice both head-hunting and human sacrifice.

Suggested Winter Wheats

REDCOAT, Pennoll, Seneca and Dual are the recommended varieties of winter wheat for Pennsylvania. All four varieties are high yielding.

In a total of 45 variety demonstrations in the three years 1960, 1961, and 1962, Redcoat averaged 40.7 bushels per acre; Dual, 38.3 bushels; Pennoll, 37.8 bushels and Seneca, 37.3 bushels per acre.

Redcoat produced stronger straw and resisted lodging better than any other variety tested by the Pennsylvania Agricultural Experiment Station. The average bushel weight of Redcoat is higher than Dual but lower than Pennoll or Seneca. Redcoat is earlier maturing and shorter strawed than Pennoll, Seneca or Dual. It is Hessian fly resistant, permitting early fall seeding for fall pasture as well as grain the next summer. Redcoat is more winter-hardy than Pennoll or Seneca.

Pennoll has heavy bushel weight and stiff, tall straw, about eight inches taller than Redcoat. It matures three to five days later than other recommended varieties.

Seneca has good bushel weight and has very stiff straw. Seneca averages about four inches shorter straw than Pennoll.

Dual is one to two pounds lower in bushel weight than other recommended varieties. It has fairly stiff straw and averages about five inches shorter straw than Pennoll. Dual is Hessian fly-resistant, permitting early seeding for fall pasture as well as grain, and is more winter-hardy than Pennoll or Seneca.

Tour Of Old Dominion Homesite Impresses Designer Leo Jiranek

FROM Tuckahoe Plantation, ancestral home of the famous Randolph family at Goochland County, Va., has come the inspiration for a new Early American furniture collection called, "Chimney Corners."

How did it happen? Furniture designer Leo Jiranek of Old Greenwich, Conn., was on Next he went outside and walked past the old cemetery and the formal English boxwoods. Next he stopped by the old kitchen (also called "the smoke house"), a structure separate from the main house as was the custom of the times. Inside the smoke house, Jiranek noticed the several chimneys in the corners. He knew that in times past such a Southern plantation tour several years ago getting ideas. He went through the mansion house at Tuckahoe. He chatted with the occupants. He noticed a painting of Winston Churchill in the living room (Churchill's mother was a Randolph).

Then he went outside and walked past the old cemetery and the formal English boxwoods.

Next he stopped by the old kitchen (also called "the smoke house"), a structure separate from the main house as was the custom of the times. Inside the smoke house, Jiranek noticed the several chimneys in the corners. He knew that in times past such corners had been used to keep food warm. Aha, he thought, an idea for a name. Why not call the new Early American collection "Chimney Corners"?

It was apt. And it stuck. That was the beginning of this Virginia collection; inspired by Tuckahoe plantation, named by the designer during a visit there, and manufactured too in the old Dominion—at Bassett, by Bassett Furniture Industries. The collection, however, is in stores across the nation, as the Virginia story enters homes everywhere.

Actually, the "Chimney Corners" collection is much broader than Tuckahoe in origin. Other Virginia plantations contributed to it. The designer traveled along the James River to Shirley, and to Evelyn. He also went to historic Charles County in Virginia. Each gave something to this composite collection.

Inevitably the designer visited Williamsburg and the Restoration. There he noticed the pineapple motif on some of the pieces in the Governor's Palace, the "broken pediments" and arches of some of the upper-class homes, the brass grilles (derived from the French) placed around mirrors to hold candles and reflect lights. These 18th century designs, as seen at Williamsburg and elsewhere, were incorporated into "Chimney Corners."

"In looking around for ideas and motifs in Early American, we wanted to use woods and details as germane to Virginia as possible," says the designer. "This encompassed a big area geographically. At the time the Colonists were busy fighting Indians and cultivating the soil, the territory of Virginia stretched a vast distance and embraced many present-day states."

"The Virginia colonists used a lot of magnolia, maple, poplar, tupelo and oak. These woods were native and authentic. We've continued them in "Chimney Corners."

A number of interesting features typical of the Early American period and later years are included in the collection. There are beehive turnings (called that because they resemble a beehive) on some bed posts. There are chair-back beds, ladder-back beds, spindle back beds, and trundle beds. There is a drop-lid desk. Some of the chairs are "reminiscent" of Hitchcocks made in Connecticut during a subsequent era and circulated throughout the country. There are also Duxbury-type chairs, patterned after the ones originally from Duxbury, Mass.

One decorative feature of the collection is the half-a-compass rose inspired by an 18th century Mariner's Compass.

Another feature is rope interlaced on bed footboards, the way slats and mattresses were put on olden beds.

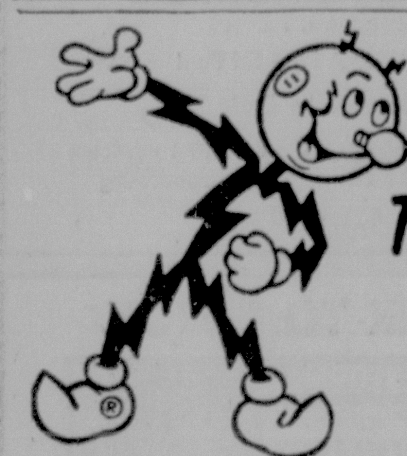

Heart-shaped hinges are used for hardware. This design was more characteristic of the Pennsylvania colonists than the Virginians.

A bachelor's chest, cabinet, and hutch top all have double dovetail joinery, wide shaped drawer edges, and the half-rose compass motif. A gallery night stand has arched doors.

There is a "spiced box mirror," a corner china cupboard, a "water chest," and a highboy.

RIGHT OUT OF THE EARLY AMERICAN PERIOD, this handsome highboy from the Chimney Corners Collection has captured the warmth and dignity of the period. Its gracious lines, spacious accommodations and spice brown finish are designed to serve harmoniously in American homes. The collection is offered by Bassett Furniture Industries.

Greenhouse Spices Wintertime Living

THE dependable, beneficial sun is the source of all energy. Man and plants both need much of its radiant rays to keep "in the pink," an appropriate phrase to indicate a vigorous, healthy condition.

Wintertime is the hardest time of the year to take advantage of old Sol unless your home has a greenhouse like the one pictured here. Plants can be grown while the members of the family have an ideal place to "sun themselves" during sunny winter weekends.

Anyone with ordinary tools and common sense can build this stimulating greenhouse in relatively little time from the step-by-step simplified pattern offered below. Location is important so that the greenhouse gets a maximum of winter sun. You're fortunate if it is the rear of your house for you can save the cost of a heating unit by locating it directly over the cellar entrance, or next to the cellar or first floor window. Tests have proved the lost heat from the average furnace is ample to keep the greenhouse at proper temperature all year around.

The build-it-yourself, easy-to-follow directions clearly describe construction in language everyone can understand. The pattern lists all necessary material and shows exactly how to assemble. While the pattern provides complete instructions for a greenhouse approximately 9 ft. square, it can be built to any number of additional 3 ft. lengths. Whether you build this greenhouse to raise plants and vegetables or to give your family the benefit of the sun's health-giving rays, you will find its construction adds much towards helping you enjoy life.

Send $1 (in coin, check, or money order) for Greenhouse Pattern No. 112 to (The Daily Record) P. O. Box 215, Pleasantville, New York. Send additional 35 cents for new catalog illustrating over 300 build it yourself projects.

The completion of Glen Canyon Dam in 1966 will transform the southeast corner of Utah. Huge Lake Powell will enable tourists to reach a scenic wonderland,

Sees Delay In Steel Output

NEW YORK (AP)—Any sizable recovery in steel production may be delayed until November, the Iron Age said Wednesday.

The metalworking trade publication said the chief reason for the delay in expected pickup of steel orders is the slow startup of automobile production, long inaccessible by car. In the area, which has been proposed as a national park, are canyons, arches and the spectacular Needles — a region of towering pinacles.

The House Of The Week

Housewives Need A Practical One-Story

By JULES LOH

WHEN A housewife has something to say about home design, a good architect will sit up and take notes.

And if the housewife is, as is most, one who has a trouble-shome budget to maintain as well as a brace of kids to raise, her design ideas are all the more valuable. The reason is simply that she spends more time at home, having neither the leisure nor the finances (nor, usually, the inclination) to do much galavanting.

This was the type housewife architect Rudolph A. Matern listened to when he designed House of the Week J-36.

It is a modest, three-bedroom, one-story model with a homey and unpretentious exterior and a functional, well-ordered floor plan including one and one-half baths, a central foyer, living room, dining room, kitchen, rear porch and full basement.

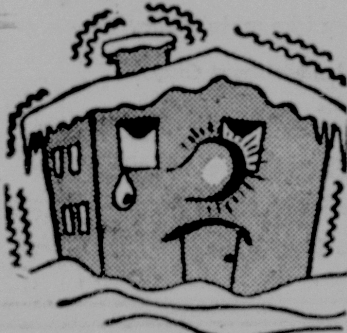

It contains 1,392 square feet of living area in dimensions of 50 feet eight inches wide by 33 feet five inches deep. The rear porch is included in the living area; it is covered, and could even be glassed in if desired.

The porch — a place to corral the youngsters in fair weather or foul — is only one feature Matern included as a result of his survey. Here are some others:

A kitchen with 26 feet of cabinet space, and large enough for a breakfast table out of the way of the work area; laundry facilities on the main level (rather than the basement); two large closets in every bedroom; an extra large main bathroom with twin lavatories; a foyer with an indestructible flagstone-in-concrete floor, and large coat closet; a lavatory adjoining the master bedroom; a luxurious living room with bow window and wood burning fireplace.

Gas distribution service is one of the nation's pioneer public utility industries, the American Gas Association reports. When the first gas company was established in Baltimore in 1816, gas distribution preceded horse-drawn railroad transportation by 14 years, central telephone service by 63 years, and electric distribution service by 66 years.

"We Not Only Sell... But Service As Well"

Cresco, Pa.

HOUSEWIFE'S DELIGHT: This house was designed to answer the floor-plan requests of housewives in middle-income families. It contains three bedrooms, one and one-half baths in dimensions of 50 feet, eight inches wide by 33 feet, five inches deep. Exterior is charming but unpretentious, a credit to any neighborhood.

Additional Details

Fitting all these features, and more, into the confines of a modest budget home required no little ingenuity on the part of architect Matern.

For example, the ladies asked for a kitchen convenient to both the front and rear doors, which is like asking to have your cake and eat it too. "In addition," said Matern, "they wanted rear yard supervision from the kitchen and plenty of natural light — ruling out an interior location for the kitchen."

Matern was able to provide all these by moving the living room slightly forward (improving the exterior, incidentally) and incorporating the rear porch, another facility in great feminine demand.

The main bathroom not only is convenient to all three bedrooms, but because of its additional door is equally handy to the rear entry. This saves a lot of mud tracking from those frequent emergency calls the kids have while playing in the backyard.

The basement stair also is directly accessible from the rear entry, so service men don't have to traipse through the house.

The housewives also asked for, and got, a linen closet wide enough to put the towels on the shelves without going through the stiff-armed constrictions narrow closets require. This one is large enough for you to stick the vacuum cleaner in also, if you like.

For all their practicality, there remains quite a bit of sentimentality in today's housewife, according to Matern. For this reason he included a handsome fireplace in the living room. "It's a creature comfort they all seem to want, but seldom find in a small house," he said. "The bow window also adds its charm to the living room, as well as providing plenty of daylight."

Viewed from the street, this house would be a credit to any neighborhood.

The 20-foot-long planter beneath the bow window emphasizes the low lines of the house. The front door is attractive, with sidelights on both sides; and the stone veneer, picket fence and flower boxes provide traditional charm.

J-36 STATISTICS

A one-story home with three bedrooms, one and one-half baths, foyer, living room, dining room, kitchen, rear porch, full basement. Contains 1,392 square feet of living area, including rear porch, and 26,448 cubic feet. Dimensions are 50 feet eight inches wide by 33 feet five inches deep.

FLOOR PLAN: Through architectural ingenuity, kitchen is convenient to both front and rear doors. Note also the unusual convenience and service given by main bathroom and lavatory. House contains 1,392 square feet of living area, including covered rear porch.

Science Explodes Myth Of Strength In Thickness

TECHNICAL advances have exploded the myth that certain building materials such as metal, glass and plastic must be thick to be strong. And now this is reaching into home interiors.

For the first time, homemakers can get a pure vinyl flooring material featuring high styling and the same durability of thicker vinyls but costing less because it's only one-sixteenth-of-an-inch thick.

In extensive laboratory tests, engineers have found it will provide the same resiliency and long-life qualities as thicker one-eighth inch or .080-gauge solid vinyls.

The big advantage of solid vinyl over other kinds of flooring tile is that it can be produced with accurate renditions of soft pastel colors that are styled to blend with major appliances now so universally used in light and delicate shades, as well as fabrics, paints and ceramics.

Dimensional Pastels

The new one-sixteenth-inch vinyl comes in pastel tones created with a crystalline quality of three-dimensional depth. Crystallite Pastels by Kentile are the only one-sixteenth-inch vinyls being produced.

The soft hues of the pastels are presented in a unique style of marbling combining a soft cloudiness, and a directional grain-like effect at different levels within the tile. This effect gives the feeling of true marble, but with added brilliance and depth.

A four-mile pipeline carries milk direct from a pasture to a cheese factory in northern Italy.

REAR VIEW: Covered porch with entry both to dining room (through sliding glass doors) and kitchen extends the living area of the house. Stone planter makes the rear entry attractive, and complements chimney and stone veneer in front of the house.

In some cases, you will find that this procedure has given the finish a sufficient luster and smoothness. In others, you may find that, while the surface is smooth to the touch, the finish has a slightly cloudy or dull appearance; so slight, in fact, that you have to look at it a second time to notice it.

It is when you are aware of this cloudiness that you put the rottenstone to work. Just repeat what you did with the pumice stone and rubbing oil, except that this time the mixture is made up of rottenstone and the oil. You will discover after a while that the finish is taking on a

Cabinet Makes Ovenware Handy

THE problem of installing a wall-oven in a kitchen not designed for that new appliance can be simplified with a new do-it-yourself plan that also makes provision for getting hard-to-store ovenware out from under pots and pans.

A free copy of the plan is available from Douglas Fir Plywood Association, Tacoma 2, Wash.

The problem of installing the oven is an easy one. Follow the manufacturer's instructions on size of the opening and how to support the fixture. The cabinet plan tells you how to cut and assemble the plywood.

The utensil cupboard will be just as welcome as the wall oven and will eliminate the crashing and banging the housewife has to go through pulling a pie plate or baking pan from under pots and pans in an ordinary cupboard.

Deep shelves separated by plywood dividers can be finished and arranged to suit your taste and needs. All the joints are simple and complete details are supplied on what hardware you'll need and how it should be installed.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Great day in the morning! Except it always takes a little while for me to appreciate the dawn, whose rosy fingers were just touching the tree top when I was taking my nephew to catch that most-inconveniently-timed train.

Even on the way home, with the sun catching the eastern windows and making it seem as if every house was ablaze, I couldn't get too enthusiastic about it. Not until two cups of coffee later could I appreciate the pattern of dew-gemmed cobwebs on the lawn, the iridescent haze of those purple grasses that are so feathery that you can't tell whether it's a grass or a bit of left-over cloud on the ground.

But once awake, I got an amazing amount of work done before tee-off time at Glen Brook at 9 a.m. In fact it felt as if half the day were over by that time. But it was a beautiful day, and everybody was feeling gay—especially since it was trophy day with a trophy for practically everybody including me.

The last time I won a prize on trophy day was when I got a prize for being the only one who hadn't won a prize all summer—so this really was an occasion, even if it was the last prize in the lowest class of anybody. Now I'm wondering just which room to use for a Trophy Room. Let's see: there are those college numerals I earned from hiking, of all things, and—on second thought, maybe I had better start on more modestly with just a trophy shelf.

Or maybe I should team up with the "Champion from California," a weird looking creature with red fringe around a bald head and a bulbous nose. Under the mask was Kay Tarr, practically suffocating. Seems she'd slipped out after lunch to hunt on the mask, and then Henri Baldwin forgot about her in the rush of business. Therefore she had to lurk in the wings for ages, getting hotter by the minute, and startling the unsuspecting male golfers who must have thought the sun really had added their wits.

It wasn't the sun, it was sleepiness which has finally caught up with me.

Changing World Needs More Skilled Workers

By Roberta Fleming Roessch

According to the U. S. Bureau of Labor Statistics the number of people employed at this moment (plus those who want employment now or in the future) is presently expanding at a faster rate than the number of people who use the goods and services that create work.

But job opportunities and needs are expanding, too. So, whether you're engaged in a current job or whether your engagement with the labor force is still in the planning stage, here are two ways to design yourself for the employment pattern of the future.

Start Now

1. If you're really serious about making the most of your future job prospects, begin right now, this fall, to get up-to-date background, education and job training.

Do this whether you're at a point in your life (a) when you can go all-out full-time for education and job training, (b) when you have to do it part-time and piecemeal (possibly via reading and night courses) for the next few years or (c) when your present job training and education, even if you're working now, is obsolete.

Changing Needs

This advice is important, too—as important as astronauts, in fact!—because this century's world with its new needs is changing with such space-capsule speed that the only way to fill the demands of today's necessary high level jobs is to offer high level training.

Just to cite one trend toward this, every indication shows that by 1965 the demand—and opportunity—for high level workers will be so great that for every seven professional and technical jobs there will be only five qualified workers available.

2. To design yourself intelligently for one of the good jobs of CAPT. AND Mrs. Edward Joseph Lockwood are shown at the reception following their wedding, with Jack Lockwood, Saylorburg, who was his brother's best man. The bride, the former Beatrice Palmquist, was attended by her sister, Miss Karen Palmquist.

Capt. Edward Lockwood, Saylorburg, Is Married In California Ceremony

A recent wedding of local interest took place in Vallejo, Cal. on the afternoon of July 15. At that time, Capt. Edward Joseph Lockwood, Jr., of Saylorburg, took as his bride, Miss Beatrice Mary Palmquist of Vallejo.

The ceremony was performed by the Reverend Albert G. Colbourne in the Ascension Episcopal Church. Approximately 300 guests were present as the bride was escorted to the altar by her father.

The bride was gowned in white ecru organza. The very full skirt was fashioned in five tiers which reached the floor and the bodice was cut with a scalloped sabrina neckline and short sleeves with scalloped edging. Her elbow length veil fell from a tiara of seed pearls and crystal beads. The accessories consisted of white lace gloves and a diamond pendant necklace, wedding gift from the groom. She also carried a white lace handkerchief which was carried by her mother at her wedding 27 years ago, and a lucky sixpence in her shoe. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white stephanotis mounted on a white prayerbook and topped by a white orchid corsage.

Miss Karen Palmquist, the bride's sister and maid of honor, was attired in yellow taffeta. Her bell-shaped skirt was gathered at the waist by a bow of the same material and the bodice was covered by a short bolero, fashioned to give a cape effect. Her headpiece was a circlet of baby roses in hues of yellow and pale green, from which fell an eye-length illusion veil.

The bridesmaids, the Misses Joanne Alonzo and Donna McNeil were gowned in dresses which were identical in style to that of the maid of honor, but in a shade of pale green. All three girls carried identical cascade bouquets of golden garnet baby roses entwined with ivy, and all three wore white lace gloves.

The bride's mother was costumed in bright turquoise chiffon over taffeta. The dress was fashioned with a full skirt, cummerbund belt, and scooped, draped neckline. She wore matching shoes and jeweled hat, and white gloves. She carried a white purse and wore a white orchid corsage.

Jack Lockwood traveled from Saylorburg to California in order to attend the wedding and perform the duties of best man for his brother.

Following the church rites, the newly married couple greeted their guests at a reception held in the Commissioned Officers Club at Mare Island Naval Base. Tall baskets of white blossoms decorated the ball room and the bride's table was covered by a white lace cloth and featured a five-tiered wedding cake surrounded by gardenias and tall white candles in silver holders. Mrs. Marvin Elliott Locke, a long-time friend of the bride, was in charge of the guest book.

will run high in social work, religion, home economics, occupational therapy, dietetics, mathematics, office work (from supervisory work all the way down the line), programming for automation and technical work in almost every field.

With all of this ahead of us, a job future is yours for the taking—provided you're willing to tie your own basic interests and training to all the trends of today and keep yourself so up-to-date you're one step ahead of tomorrow!

The call for librarians is constantly heard loudly all across the country and many part-time jobs are available in this field.

Besides these specific job opportunities, other opportunities are available in many fields. The couple enjoyed a thirty-day honeymoon after their wedding. They traveled first to Hawaii, where they spent two weeks. Then they came to Pennsylvania to spend some time with Capt. Lockwood's parents, who were unable to travel to California for the wedding.

The new Mrs. Lockwood is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Gene Palmquist. She graduated from Vallejo High School in 1955 and San Jose State College in 1959, from where she received her Bachelor of Arts Degree and teaching credentials. Presently she is employed as an eighth grade teacher by the Travis Unified School District. She is a holder of the Majority Degree, Bethel 180, International Order of Jobs Daughters. E. Stroudsburg State Opens Grid Drills

Work Out For Warriors After 7-1 Campaign In '61

EAST Stroudsburg State College launched its pre-season drills yesterday as 63 candidates were picked for coach Jack Gregory's roster.

The players were introduced officially during the annual Radio-Press Day held at the ESSC campus football field.

East Stroudsburg State rolled up a 7-1 record last year and ranked second in total defense in the NCAA small college division and rating very high in just about all statistical departments of the NCAA and NAIA ratings.

The Warriors will open the season Sept. 15 in a home encounter with Montclair (N. J.) STC.

For the Warriors, however, 1962 is a new season and for Coach Jack Gregory and his coaching staff, the new term will present a mighty challenge. The present team will have a big step to reach the heights of the 1961 aggregation.

Gregory will be assisted this year by Charles Reese, back again for his duties as backfield coach and newcomers, Gary Soderberger from the Univ. of Iowa and Don McClusky of Allentown.

Soderberger, a registered physical therapist, will work as line coach and also in conditioning the club. This is the first season in which a physical therapist will work with a football team at the college.

Most Valuable
McClusky was voted the most valuable player in the Skyline Conference last year after performing with the University of Wyoming. McClusky, like Reese is from Allentown. He will be coaching the ends.

Looking ahead to the season, Gregory said lack of experience and depth should be a handicap. "Every member of the squad will have to give an all-out effort to bring success to the 1962 Warriors," he said.

Coach Gregory and his staff have their work cut out for them, especially since the past campaign was one of East Stroudsburg State's finest achievements.

Due to losses on both offense and defense, there will be many "ifs" as to what kind of success the team will have. The biggest problem should be finding replacements on the line where only one offensive starter will be returning.

Bare Watching
Some linemen that should bare watching, however, are Bruce Thomas of East Greenville, considered by most as one of the best collegiate tackles in Football Outlook E. Stroudsburg State

By Anthony Cesare
Daily Record Sports Editor

EAST STROUDSBURG—Can East Stroudsburg State College top its 1961 football record? Last year the Warriors compiled a 7-1 mark with the only loss being administered by pesky rival West Chester State, 28-7.

Does head coach Jack Gregory promise more headway this campaign?

Cautious Jack does not. 1961 certainly was a banner year at East Stroudsburg State. While gaining the seven victories, the Warriors also held the opponents scoreless on four occasions, gave up three points to Mansfield and the other two teams that scored had only one touchdown each. A total of 45 points were scored against ESSC in the eight outings.

Coach Gregory, back for his fourth season, doesn't venture to say exactly how the team will turn out.

Can they top their '61 record? To this Gregory simply states: "The only way to do that is to win one more game."

Here is how the Warriors shape up, however, for 1962:

PERSONNEL: Looks like another good crop with a number of veterans and promising gridders in the fold. The big names are QB Billy Lewis and end Joe Heverin, both seniors. Both have also been selected co-captains. There are also Horace Cole, an East Stroudsburg product; Toby Barkman, top scorer last year; Don Villani, Bill Slezosky, Barry Yoder, Dennis Getman, Ed Neuman, Bruce Thomas, Jan Beliveau and Ron Sullivan.

RUSHING OFFENSE: Should have a strong ground gaining team. With QB Lewis, one of the best in the conference, the air attack should provide plenty of excitement.

Gregory has a number of runners who could give the team plenty of mileage. Toby Barkman, who was in the top ten scorers in the country last year, certainly will be watched.

PASSING OFFENSE: ESSC expects to throw more this season. Lewis is the key but there is also Charles Sierier and Doug Brickel, both juniors. This is the QB corps which will throw from action or play-type passes utilizing the roll out.

RUSHING DEFENSE: The Warriors had an outstanding defense the past three years as statistics can verify. The 1961 team gained national recognition in being the number two team in total defense in small colleges and rated very high in almost every statistical department.

But the biggest problem in '62 will be finding replacements on the line. Some linemen that should fill the bill will be Bruce Thomas, considered one best collegiate tackles in the country; Horace Cole, returning letterman at guard; Joe Bahntka and Joe Heverin, who was at full-back but will be at end this term.

PASS DEFENSE: Just a lot of names but Heverin and Bahntka should suffice along with Villani, Gary Wilhide and Bob Mahler.

KICKING: Billy Lewis will be the number one kicker. He averaged about 38 yards per kick in '61. Charles Sierier will be in number two spot. The kicking off department as well as the extra point kicker is wide open.

NEW FACES: Ron Shearer, a 190-lb. freshman fullback from Milton, Pa. He is highly recommended and was sought after by about 20 colleges.

Bob Ruckesche, 6', 109-lbs. from Newburgh, N. Y., a big end who should come through for Warriors. He is a freshman.

Bob Gelatko, the Lansford flash who scored 34 touchdowns last two seasons with 19 being amassed last year. He also is a freshman.

THE OUTLOOK: Experience and depth may be a handicap to this year's squad. Coach Gregory and his staff have their work cut out for them. Only time will tell if the Warriors can have another outstanding season.

THE OBJECTIVE: One more win!

Stenhouse Hurls Senators To 3-2 Win Over Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Washington Senators scored twice in the first inning Thursday night and went on to defeat the Baltimore Orioles 3-2 behind the nine-pitching of Dave Stenhouse.

A bloop single by Chuck Hinton after two were out in the first started the two-run rally. A triple by Harry Bright scored Hinton and Bright came around a moment later on a double by Ken Retzer.

Don Lock's ninth home run, a solo blast, accounted for the Senators' other run.

Baltimore's two runs scored after two were out in the third.

Pitcher Dick Hall, the starter and loser for Baltimore, beat out a high infield bounce and went to second when leadoff batter Jerry Adair singled.

Both runners scored when Russ Snyder tripled to right center.

Ken Hubbs went through his 72nd consecutive game without committing an error, placing him within one game of tying Bobby Doerr's major league record for second basemen.

McBean was soaring along, easily through seven innings, holding the Cubs to two singles and no runs.

But then the Cubs put together two Pittsburgh errors and three hits to knock McBean from the mound. After reliever Diomedes Olivo gave up a single, Face retired the next two batters.

Clenendon's two doubles and bases-empty home run—his fourth—were good for four runs batted in. The first double followed Dick

Joanne Gunderson Survives Scare

Mrs. Decker Defeated In Drive For 2nd Golf Title

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Patsy Hahn, the champion of Delaware but little-known nationally, upset defending champion Anne Quast Decker but co-favorite Joanne Gunderson survived the scare of her life Thursday in the quarter-finals of the U.S. Women's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Miss Hahn, firing a 1-ander-par 35 for a 5-up lead in the front nine of the 6,161-yard, par 36-36-72 Country Club of Rochester course, ousted Mrs. Decker 5 and 4 to sweep into Friday's semifinals against Annie Baker, a 17-

The Bangor team will journey to Lansford early in the morning for the 9:30 a.m. meeting.

Havlicek Signs Celtic Contract

BOSTON (AP) — The world champion Boston Celtics has signed their top draft choice, John Havlicek, to a 1-year contract.

The Celtics, winners of four straight National Basketball Association titles, did not disclose the exact amount, estimated at $10,000.

Havlicek, a defensive star from Ohio State, recently was cut by the Cleveland Browns after a National Football League tryout.

year-old from Tennessee. Miss Baker topped Marcia McLachlan of Danbury, Conn., 2 and 1.

Loses Lead

Miss Gunderson, the 1957 and 1960 champion, blew a three-hole lead, then rallied and finally disposed of the pretty, pesky bank secretary from Richmond, Calif., Barbara Williams, 1-up in 20 holes.

Gundy's semifinal foe will be her Curtis Cup teammate, Phyllis (Tish) Preuss of Pompano Beach, Fla., who defeated the New York state champion, Mrs. Harry Nevil, 4 and 2.

Miss Hahn, who won her first Delaware state title when she was 14 and has won four more championships since, rattled off six straight pars in going 3-up, made it 4-up with a birdie deuce at the 170-yard, par 3 seventh when her tee shot stopped 18 inches from the cup, and won the eighth with another par to go 5-up.

Mrs. Decker, who was six over par after being only two over for the first 57 holes covering the earlier four rounds, trimmed Miss Hahn's lead to four with a par on the 12th but Patsy rammed in a 12-foot putt for a birdie at No. 13 and when they halved the short 14th, the match was over and the upset of the tournament was final.

Shaky Start

Miss Gunderson, after a shaky start, zoomed to a 3-up lead over the 24-year-old Miss Williams after 10 holes and seemed to be on her way to another decisive victory.

But Miss Williams got her momentum on a hole where it looked as if Gundy would go 4-up. Joanne's drive hooked into the deep rough at the left of the fairway on the 405-yard, par 4 12th hole. She had a small fir tree in front of her and further on a large pine blocking her way to the green.

She took a 5-wood and faded a spectacular shot around the trees and onto the green, about 35 feet from the cup. Miss Williams, well short in two, pitched up 10 feet beyond. Then Miss Williams rapped in the 10-footer for a par 4, and Miss Gunderson three-putted, taking a 5 and losing the hole.

Barbara promptly birdied the par 5 13th with a 5-foot putt, and stroked in a 25-footer for another birdie on the long 15th that evened the match. On the 16th, her tee shot stopped 18 inches beyond the cup—just missing a hole in one. Gundy's bid for a deuce stopped short and Barbara led 1-up with two holes to play after sinking the short putt.

Glen Brook Lady Golfers Hold Annual Trophy Fete

MRS. CHARLES Norelli won low gross prize for the year for the Glen Brook Women's Golf Assn. at the trophy luncheon held yesterday at the clubhouse closing the formal tournaments for the season.

Three prizes were awarded in each of the three classes for low gross scores: Class A: Mrs. Robert Flick, first; Mrs. Claude Cramer and Mrs. George G. Shafer, tie for second.

Class B: Mrs. Grant Nitrauer, first; Mrs. Jess Haynes, second; Mrs. Emma Metzgar, third.

Class C: Mrs. August Lockwitch, first; Mrs. Robert Schell, second; Mrs. Horace Westbrook, third.

In the nine-hole ladies day tournaments, low gross prize went to Mrs. Richard Krueger, first; Mrs. Peter Wyckoff and Mrs. Elwood German tied for second.

Mrs. Grant Nitrauer, golf chairman, presented the prizes and also presented prizes for those lowering their handicaps the most: Mrs. Paul Patten, class A; Mrs. T. L. Metzgar, class B; Mrs. Jay Martin, nine-hole golfers.

Mrs. Norelli who was in charge of the ringer scores presented the prizes, both tied for first place to Mrs. John Watt and Mrs. Walter McClelland.

Putting prizes, of which Mrs. Wyckoff was chairman, were won by Mrs. George Shafer for class A with 27 putts; by three golfers in class B each with 30; Mrs. J. L. Cohen, Mrs. Jess Haynes and Mrs. Grant Nitrauer and to Mrs. August Lockwitch, class C with 34 putts.

Nine-hole putt prizes were won by Mrs. Jay Martin, Mrs. Richard Krueger, and Mrs. Louis Sommers.

The presentation of prizes was climaxed by the presentation of a silver pitcher, engraved with the association's initials to retiring president Mrs. M. S. Baldwin. Mrs. Baldwin presided at the business meeting following the buffet luncheon at the club. She announced that the women's trophies in the championship tournament would be awarded at the annual Championship Dinner which will follow the men's championships finals on Sept. 15.

Mrs. Peter Wyckoff was elected president of the Glen Brook Women's Golf Assn. for the new year. Also elected were Mrs. Grant Nitrauer, vice president; Mrs. John Watt, treasurer; and Mrs. Richard Krueger, secretary-treasurer.

Mrs. Wyckoff asked members to bring suggestions for next year to discuss at luncheon next Thursday, and members signed up for committees on which they would be willing to serve.

The luncheon followed the final tournament of the season, a best ball of partners (blind) won by the team of Mrs. Norrell and Bess Pomeroy for the 18 hole tournament; and Elaine Martin and Audrey Wyckoff for the nine-hole tournament.

Although no more formal tournaments are scheduled, the women plan to play on Thursday throughout the fall.

Susman-Bricka Duel Looms As Best In National Tennis

By WILL GRIMSLEY

Associated Press Sports Writer

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) —

A match between the Wimbledon women's champion, Mrs. Karen Hantze Susman of San Diego, Calif., and her Wightman Cup teammate, Justina Bricka of St. Louis, looms as the best of the 64 offerings Friday in the official opening of the 32nd National Tennis Championships.

The entire lower half of the men's draw, featuring second-rank and third-seeded Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., and the second and third quarters of the women's pairings are up for contention at the West Side Tennis Club.

The way was cleared for the tournament proper with completion of 36 qualifying matches Thursday in the men's singles division, reducing the record entry list to 128 players.

Straight Clark of Haverford, Pa., a wiry 37-year-old department store executive who was ranked No. 5 nationally eight years ago, led the advance with a 6-2, 7-5, 6-2 victory over Hugh Sweeney of Houston, Tex., who went through his paces wearing a black mustache and long white trousers reminiscent of the Tilden era.

Mrs. Susman's match with Miss Bricka should highlight the program since the favored men players apparently have simple access to the second round.

Mrs. Susman, the 19-year-old bride who gave American tennis an unexpected lift by winning at Wimbledon, is second-ranked nationally and Miss Bricka, who also is just 19, is rated No. 5.

In their only meeting this year, Mrs. Susman won in straight sets at Marion, Pa.

Mrs. Susman has a rugged task ahead of her if she is to match her Wimbledon triumph. She faces a formidable opponent in every round, with five other of the nation's top 10 women and sixth-seeded Renee Schuurman of South Africa in her quarter of the draw.

Mrs. Susman is second seeded in the tournament behind Margaret Smith of Australia, who drew a first round bye. Miss Smith plays Sharon Fritula of Detroit in the second round.

Emerson, second-seeded behind Davis Cup teammate Rod Laver whom he upset last year for the championship, plays Francisco (Pancho) Contreras, Mexico's Davis Cup captain, in the first round. McKinley, seeded third, opposes Bob Bowditch, a Harvard student from Worcester, Mass. Both are expected to win easily.

Table Action For '64 Site Of Trot Race

DU QUOIN, Ill. (AP) — Where the Hambletonian, harness racing's Kentucky Derby, will be held beginning in 1964 was a moot question Thursday after its governing body deferred acting on a new contract.

In its post-race meeting, the Hambletonian Society, by a 10 to 8 vote, tabled action on a new contract until a full meeting of the 21-member society in New York City Oct. 21.

The blue ribbon stake for 3-year-old trotters, since 1937, has been held at the Du Quoin State Fair where Wednesday A.C.'s Viking won the $116,612 event in successive heats. Du Quoin's Hambletonian contract ends with the 1963 race.

Three members missed Thursday's meeting at which four bids were considered—from Gene and Don Hayes, the present Du Quoin Hambletonian hosts; Good Time Park, Goshen, N.Y.; Chicago's new Washington Park Trotting Association; and the Indiana State Fair.

The 10 to 8 tabling vote was disclosed by Gene Hayes, who with his brother, Don, had sought a new five-year pact. The Hayes' bid was tantamount to an added $100,000 purse.

Courts Cleared For Open Of National Tennis Play

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) —

The Russians aren't exactly taking want ads in the newspapers, but they want it known that any top U.S. coach who would like to help show them the tricks of international tennis would get a red-carpet welcome in Moscow.

"In fact," said Soviet Coach Semon Beliz-Gemon Thursday, "we were disappointed when the Americans showed up in Moscow earlier this month without a coach."

"We can manage with our own training methods, but any time an American coach would like to come over to our country I can assure you he would be most welcome."

What would the price be?

"As a guest," said Beliz-Gemon.

The Russian coach spoke through an interpreter. His threeman, one woman delegation—the first Soviet tennis players ever to set foot in the United States—had a day off while the qualifying round for the tournament proper wound up.

Alexander Metreveli, 17, was the only Russian who had to qualify. He whipped Bronson Van Wyck of Montclair, N.J., 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, 6-2 Wednesday.

"Right now," said Beliz-Gemon, "we need more players and courts. We have about 70,000 players who are serious about the game. By that I mean they will play in assorted tournaments. We have a lot of others, I don't know how many, who play just for fun."

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San

Francisco's Jack Sanford, given a huge ration of bullpen aid, won his 13th straight game Thursday as the Giants beat Milwaukee 3-2. Willie Mays hit his 40th home run of the year and Orlando Cepeda and Jim Davenport each added one for the Giants. Frank Bolling and losing pitcher Warren Spahn rapped consecutive homers for the Braves.

It took Bob Bolin, Billy O'Dell, Stu Miller, Mike McCormick and Don Larsen to preserve Sanford's victory string.

Larsen stabbed Tommy Aaron's liner to the mound and turned it into a game-ending double play when Milwaukee had the bases loaded in the ninth.

Spahn (14-12), who had won six straight, retired the first two Giants in the first inning and had a count of two strikes on Mays when Willie lofted his home run 400 feet over the left field fence. Then Cepeda stepped into a 2-1 outside pitch and rapped it over the right field fence for his 32nd homer.

Davenport, starting for the first time since breaking a left hand bone on Aug. 1, belted his 13th homer in the sixth. It was a single season career high for the third baseman.

Sanford allowed only a game opening double by Amado Samuel until Bolling and Spahn homered with one out in the seventh. Spahn had barely missed a home run in the second when right fielder Felipe Alou leaped and speared the ball above the 8-foot fence.

When Gus Bell singled after the two homers, Sanford departed.

Milwaukee loaded the bases off Bolin and O'Dell in the eighth, but Miller fanned Bolling and Spahn filled deep to right to end the inning.

CAMPFIRES!

Friendly things, campfires—but fiends, too. Carelessly put out . . . just one glowing coal missed . . . they can roar back to life and start dangerous forest fires.

Loss of life . . . destruction of irreplaceable timber and watershed . . . can be the tragic aftermath of a campfire getting out of hand.

During these fire hazard months, every flame—from a match or cigarette up—is a threat. Forest areas vital beyond dollar evaluation to America's welfare are in danger.

So be doubly careful. It's still a fact that 9 out of 10 forest fires are man-caused. Be sure all fires are out . . . drowned, dead out.

Tips For Vegetable Exhibitors

EXHIBITORS are urged to carefully select garden produce for showing at local and county fairs.

Try these suggestions:

Vegetables must be true to type. Include in the exhibit only one variety — the particular one listed in the premium book.

High quality is the most important factor in selecting specimens to be shown. Most vegetables reach their highest quality, and are used in the young or immature stage.

Snap beans will break easily and show no seed bulge.

Sweet corn is best in the milk stage with the grains full size.

Peppers usually are exhibited in the garden stage, although coloring or ripeness does not denote poor quality.

Green and ripe peppers should not be placed in the same exhibit.

Cucumbers are exhibited as pickles and slices. Small pickles are under three inches in length — full size three to five inches — and slicing pickles over five inches.

Select canning tomatoes that are red ripe or fully red. For market purposes they may show some green, but must be firm. Take root crops, such as beets, carrots, turnips, salsify, and parsnips, of full desirable market size. Maturity is important with onions, sweet potatoes, and winter squashes.

All vegetables in an exhibit must be free from injury and waste, and of uniform size, shape and color.

Exhibits Judged At G-D-S Fair

NEWFOUNDLAND — The exhibition hall of the 45th annual Greene-Dreher-Sterling Fair drew crowds of exhibitors yesterday as the annual event moved into the second day. Winners were announced at 1 p.m. and among the crowds of exhibitors were the women who had baked pastries, done handwork and canned goods for display as the highlight of the season.

Banked in masses at the end of the building were the displays of out flowers which formed the backdrop for the long tables holding baked goods and handwork. More than 450 people watched the show ring as the fitting contest was held by the fair association. Children led their entries around the ring as the judges looked over the animals for the best points in build, walk and use as a dairy and meat animal.

Sitting shiny and bright in the sunshine were the displays of farm machinery which was visited with regularity by each little boy at least twice. Brightly colored plastic flags flying in the wind gave indication of the breeze which took one child's gas-filled balloon skyward.

Among the sounds of the fair, music and cows lowering were the raucous voices of a pair of confused roosters who were either crowing for morning or over the ribbons they had won.

Along the side of the exhibit hall, were the farm produce exhibits which were topped by a dinner-plate sized sunflower bent by the weight of the seeds inside.

Commercial exhibits were set up to draw the eyes of prospective buyers of farm machinery and implements. Along the midway, games for young and old showed billowing canvas awnings. The roar of motors announced the rides in operation. Delighted screams from riders drew people to ticket booths and the motors roared louder.

In the overall picture between the 1961 fair, a total of 93 new exhibitors were added to the rolls with only five dropping out. The success of the fair seemed assured according to Robert Staph, fair association secretary.
